Ever heard about Teenage Bad Girl ?

Some say they are a genetic mix of Daft Punk, Aphex Twin & The Stooges. Anyhow they are part of the new French "electro touch", together with Justice, Para One, Modeselektor & a few others. And they know how to blow up any dancefloor.

Their first released, the 12" "Hands of a Stranger", quickly reached the dancefloor charts & since the beginning of their short career, they've been supported and/or playlisted by Mylo, Chloé, Paul Woolford, Erol Alkan, Ian Pooley, JohnLordFonda, Justice, dj Hell, Digitalism, Arthur Baker, Adam Freeland, Ewan Pearson, Hystereo (Soma), Vitalic, Boys Noize, Yuksek, etc.

Now Teenage Bad Girl are set to release on Citizen Records their debut album "Cocotte", due out in March 2007 in France. "Cocotte" includes 14 Dirt-Electro tracks, and also some remixes from Boys Noize and Hystereo.
